City mourns death of police officer

TTC bus route cuts delayed

Service cuts on underused routes were scheduled for March 27 and were supposed to save about $7 million

TTC riders have received a reprieve on cuts to 48 poorly subscribed evening and weekend bus routes.

City councillors on the transit commission have delayed until Feb. 2 a decision to reduce off-hours service. The delay gives TTC staff time to come up with alternatives to some of the route reductions and provide more time to inform the public of the proposed cuts.

The buses slated for cancellation account for about 1.3 million rides annually but average 12 or fewer riders an hour at off-peak times. Riders would have to walk an additional 200 to 800 metres to another bus if the proposed cuts take effect. Most of the service only came into effect in November 2008.

But the decision-making delay adds another $1 million to the $8 million savings the transit system needs to achieve after the city cancelled a proposed 10-cent fare increase this week.

The bus service cuts scheduled for March 27 were supposed to save about $7 million — money that would be reallocated to overcrowded routes in the fall.

But postponing the decision for three weeks means service reductions couldn't happen until mid-May and any service enhancements might be pushed back from their September target.

▶ Gary Webster

"Effectively, the decision is that it's $1 million less that we've got to allocate to service that needs it, and we're going to have to manage that because we can't afford another million dollars in budget cuts," said TTC chief general manager Gary Webster at a special commission meeting yesterday.

Although she is concerned that the TTC not put the decision off indefinitely, transit chair Karen Stintz conceded that the city's expedited budget process this year hasn't left much time for residents to become informed on the route changes.

The transit commission approved a $1.4-billion operating budget and a 10-year, $8.2-billion capital plan. But the capital plan has a $2.3-billion funding shortfall, the impact of which will begin to be felt next year, Webster warned.

Officer struck by stolen snowplow

Sgt. Ryan Russell is the first Toronto officer killed since 2002

An attempt to stop a stolen snowplow during a wild police chase through snowy city streets ended in tragedy yesterday when an officer was struck by the vehicle and killed.

Sgt. Ryan Russell, an 11-year member of the force who was married with a small son, died of his injuries in hospital.

"This is the worst of days for the Toronto Police Service," a sombre Chief Bill Blair said outside the hospital emergency entrance shortly after Russell, 35, succumbed.

A man was arrested about seven kilometres from where Russell was hit. Blair would only say the man received "certain injuries" during his arrest, but investigators said police opened fire on him and he was hit by at least one bullet.

The man was taken to the same emergency room where doctors attempted to save Russell's life.

Timeline

- The snowplow, equipped with a GPS tracking device, was stolen at about 5 a.m. from a downtown parking lot near Dundas and Parliament streets.
- Two operators clearing a lot in Regent Park got out of the truck. Without warning, a man in his 40s and without shoes jumped in and drove off.
- Officers caught up with the plow when it hit a city vehicle in the west end about two hours later and some 10 kilometres from where it was stolen.

▶ Mayor Rob Ford

Flags at city hall and civic buildings were lowered, and Sgt. Ryan Russell's death prompted an outpouring of sympathy from citizens on social media and other websites.

Mayor Rob Ford called Russell a "shining example" of the men and women who put their lives on the line as officers.

"(They) earn the respect and appreciation of us all."

Mike McCormack, of the city's police union, called it a "tragic day," saying Russell had made the "ultimate sacrifice" doing his duty. "We've lost a great officer, a great friend, a husband and a father," McCormack said.

"I can't imagine the grief that the family is going through right now."

Alok Mukherjee, chairman of the Toronto Police Services Board, said the city shared in the family's grief, and added such tragedies are rare but "affect all of us" when they occur.

Premier Dalton McGuinty called the tragedy a "grim reminder" that the dangers of policing cannot be taken for granted.

▶ Premier Dalton McGuinty delivered an election-flavoured speech before a business audience in Kitchener yesterday.

McGuinty amps up rhetoric in election year

Tory Leader Tim Hudak has escalated his campaign
Almost daily news conferences often take a jab at the rapid growth in provincial government spending

Premier Dalton McGuinty is giving voters a taste of what's to come in the lead-up to the October election.

Looking much like Al Gore in An Inconvenient Truth, McGuinty stood in front of a giant screen yesterday to make an elaborate, campaign-style pitch to a Kitchener business crowd.

But unlike the former U.S. vice-president, the premier used his slide show to paint a rosy picture of Ontario's future under Liberal rule as photos and graphics flashed up on the screen behind him, including a picture of the youthful, long-haired McGuinty boating on Lac St. Pierre in 1973.

"It was a constant battle with my parents though, I can tell you that much," he said later of his long hair.

McGuinty touted his government's policies — from full-day kindergarten to green energy — during the 28-minute speech, as well as plans to develop clean-water technology and the Ring of Fire chromite deposit in the north.

Politics Prof. David Docherty, who saw the speech, said it looked like a dry run for an election platform.

"My sense is that they're test-driving a whole bunch of platforms to pick or choose one or two that they're going to hammer home come election time," said Docherty, dean of arts at Wilfrid Laurier University in nearby Waterloo.

THE CANADIAN PRESS

HST fears?

When it came to Liberal unrest over the unpopular harmonized sales tax, the premier clammed up.

- Niagara-area backbencher Kim Craitor is the first Liberal to publicly criticize the tax, saying recently that he opposes the HST on hydro bills.
- There could be other Liberals who break ranks on the HST before the election, politics Prof. David Docherty said. "It's clearly the one thing in his closet that's really got them concerned," he said.

POLITICS

Tories take aim at energy policies

The Liberal government's green energy policies will be a focal point of Opposition attacks in the run-up to the Oct. 6 Ontario election, with the Progressive Conservatives warning voters can't afford "Premier Dalton McGuinty's expensive energy experiments."

Every kid who runs a lemonade stand knows you can't buy lemons for 80 cents and then sell lemonade for a nickel, and that's what the Liberals are doing with heavily subsidized solar energy projects, Opposition Leader Tim Hudak said yesterday.

"It's not sustainable," Hudak told reporters.

"Other jurisdictions are walking away from (subsidizing renewable energy projects) because it was driving up the cost of doing business and hurting consumers by taking more money out of pockets."

Toronto police, 7 officers slapped with $250K suit

Man sues police over alleged violence at G20 SIU already investigated, found no clear evidence of offence

TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

Dorian Barton was taking a picture of a police horse during the G20 summit when he was slammed to the ground by riot police and "viciously assaulted" by six officers who broke his shoulder, he alleges.

Barton, 29, had never been to a protest before in his life, but went to the designated protest area at the Ontario legislature June 26, 2010, to see the activity for himself.

He had been there only 30 minutes when he was knocked to the ground by a Toronto police officer with a riot shield, Barton alleges in a lawsuit filed against the Toronto Police Services Board and seven unnamed officers.

None of the allegations have been proven in court. The Toronto Police Services Board has not yet filed a statement of defence, said another lawyer on the case.

Earlier in the day on June 26, a small group of violent protesters rampaged through downtown Toronto, breaking windows and setting fire to abandoned police cruisers. The legislature protest was completely peaceful, Barton alleges.

"Despite this, at approximately 5 p.m. without any warning, riot police moved in on the peaceful protesters there," he says in the statement of claim.

"The police made no request or demand to the protesters to disperse. Riot police on foot pushed people back violently and targeted random persons for arrest."

Barton alleges he was one of those random people.

Storm snarls morning traffic

A snowstorm slowed yesterday's morning commute to a crawl as up to 25 centimetres of snow fell on parts of southern Ontario.

Ontario Provincial Police reported hundreds of crashes on Greater Toronto Area highways. Most were minor involving vehicles sliding into each other, guardrails or ditches.

Environment Canada senior climatologist David Phillips said it was one of the first real heavy snowfalls of the winter for Toronto, which has received more snow this year than all of last winter.

DEATH IN DAYCARE

'THERE'S A DEEP SORROW'

Dozens of mourners said an emotional goodbye yesterday to a 14-month-old girl who died after an incident at a private daycare last week.

Duy-An Nguyen died in hospital Friday, two days after police found her unconscious and unresponsive at a home daycare in Mississauga.

Steven Nguyen, a member of the church, said the intimate ceremony was "very emotional."

"There's a deep sorrow for the family," he said after the service.

The daycare operator, April Luckese, 35, has been charged with second-degree murder in the baby's death.

Luckese is in protective custody until her next court date Jan. 21.

Child care advocates and the Ontario Federation of Labour are calling for a coroner's inquest to investigate the girl's death. THE CANADIAN PRESS

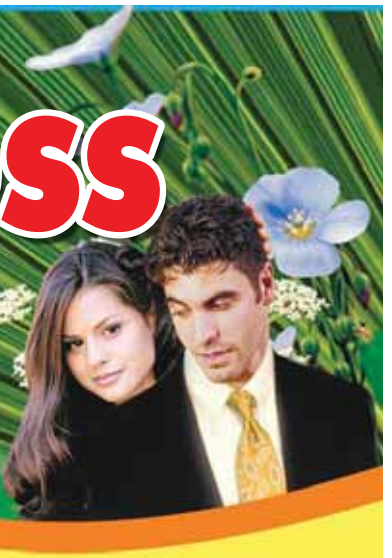
STOP HAIR LOSS



BEST IN CANADA #1 TOP SELLER CANADA

BIO-FEN PLUS™ is a natural health product used in the treatment of hereditary androgenic alopecia (AGA) in adults (male or female pattern baldness.) It contains scientifically calculated proportions of extracts of fenugreek seeds, saw palmetto berries and flax lignans. Each are known to possess an inhibitor of the enzyme responsible for causing male or female pattern baldness. It also contains a mixture of B vitamins, folate and biotin to help metabolize these herbal extracts so that they are more bio-available, and to support the growth of strong and healthy hair.

How does BIO-FEN PLUS™ work?

Specific compounds within the herbal extracts inhibit the 5-alpha-reductase (and therefore reduce DHT) to prevent or slow down the rate of hair loss. This process is the principle by which the prescription drugs such as Propecia (finasteride) work. However, BIO-FEN PLUS™ also contains additional compounds which remove excess cholesterol and testosterone – the building blocks of DHT.

BIO-FEN PLUS™ also contains vitamins to increase blood flow to the small capillaries that feed the hair roots, to deliver the active herbal compounds and remove waste. Therefore, BIO-FEN PLUS™ provides a natural, safer alternative to expensive drugs, and/or expensive & painful hair transplants. As with the prescription alternatives, results vary from person to person, and no one product will work for everyone.

How long must I use BIO-FEN PLUS™ ?

BIO-FEN PLUS™ capsules are usually effective at stopping hair loss within the first two months. However, since healthy hair grows only about 1 cm each month, it may take up to three months before you notice that hair growth is increased or further hair loss is stopped.

Anyone experiencing new growth will see it within four to six months. Once results become apparent, some users are able to reduce their BIO-FEN PLUS™ supplement dose to one capsule every second or every third day. Some clients will continue to take BIO-FEN PLUS™ daily. Once you stop completely, however, your hair growth pattern will slowly go back to the point where you started.

How safe is BIO-FEN PLUS™ ?

The ingredient combination in BIO-FEN PLUS™ is generally safe for most adults. However, the following cautions are advised:

Folic acid: Consult a health care practitioner if you are uncertain whether or not you are taking adequate vitamin B12, as folate supplementation can mask a Vitamin B12 deficiency.

Vitamin B3: Consult a health care practitioner prior to use if you have impaired liver function.

Vitamin B6: Consult a health care practitioner prior to use if you are taking levodopa.

What is the quality of BIO-FEN PLUS™ ?

BIO-FEN PLUS™ is manufactured in Canada according to a quality assurance program called Good Manufacturing Practices (GMP). This ensures that the ingredients are tested for their level of quality, potency & purity, prior to production and again prior to sale.

See our website to locate your nearest Health Food Store or Pharmacy that offers BIO-FEN PLUS™ and other quality products from Hair Grow Technology.

If you have any questions or comments about our products that target hair loss and support the growth of strong, healthy hair, please do not hesitate to contact us.

Local radio host persuades group not to protest

Members of a radical Kansas church have cancelled plans to picket the funeral of a nine-year-old girl killed in a shooting rampage in Arizona, after being promised a live interview on a Toronto radio station.

Dean Blundell, a controversial radio host on 102.1 The Edge, said he brokered the deal with Shirley Phelps-Roper of the Westboro Baptist Church in an effort to prevent further suffering for the victim's family.

The church had previously planned to picket Green's funeral today, saying the Arizona shooter had been sent by God to punish sinners in the country.

The organization also has a long history of picketing the funerals of fallen American soldiers on the grounds that the nation is too tolerant towards homosexuals.

Word of the church's plans prompted Arizona legislators to rush through a law prohibiting protests within 100 metres of a funeral or burial service. Phelps-Roper has been a semi-regular guest on Blundell's program in the past, where her hardline right-wing views were played for laughs for the show's largely left-leaning audience.

"I said, 'I'll let you say whatever you want to say. You can spew whatever religious rhetoric you like, you can talk about how terrific it is on our morning show ... if you agree not to protest the funeral,' and she agreed," Blundell said in a telephone interview.

"That little girl didn't have a chance. If we can offer up some radio time and let her talk silliness, we're more than happy to do it if she promises not to hurt anybody."

The hours that led up to mass killing

'There are no words that can possibly express how we feel,' accused's parents say in a statement U.S. President Obama pays tribute in Arizona

In the hours before the assassination attempt against a U.S. congresswoman, the suspect went shopping at a big-box store, was pulled over for running a red light and ran from his father after an angry confrontation.

Investigators are piecing together the timeline of Jared Loughner's frenzied morning before the assassination attempt on Rep. Gabrielle Giffords that also killed six and wounded 14.

Palin accuses media and pundits of 'blood libel.' Was it an inappropriate call?

MORRY GASH/THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

After two shopping trips to Wal-Mart, Loughner ran a red light but was let off with a warning, the Arizona Game and Fish Department said. The officer took Loughner's driver's licence and vehicle registration information but found no outstanding warrants and didn't search the car.

Earlier that morning, a mumbling Loughner ran into the desert near his home after his father asked him why he was removing a black bag from the trunk of a family car, sheriff's officials said. He resurfaced later Saturday at a grocery store where Giffords was holding an event. There, authorities say, he shot 20 people, killing a federal judge and a nine-year-old girl among others.

Giffords was able to breathe on her own Tuesday at an intensive care unit, doctors said. Yesterday, her doctors said she was less sedated and more responsive and that her recovery was going as anticipated. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Investigators said they found notes with the words "Die, bitch," which they believe referenced Giffords, and "Die, cops."

Biden hits back at critics in Pakistan

Visit comes a week after Punjab governor's assassination

U.S. Vice-President Joe Biden warned Pakistanis yesterday about the dangers of failing to counter growing Islamist extremism in a speech that also hit back at what he said were popular Pakistani misconceptions about America and its motives.

Biden sought to counter anti-U.S. conspiracy theories and ideas commonly heard in Pakistan, saying Washington has not imposed its anti-terror war on Pakistan, does not favour archrival India, does not want to break up the country and is not at war with Islam.

"Societies that tolerate such actions end up being consumed by those actions."

▶ Mudslide in Teresopolis, Brazil, yesterday.

Torrential summer rains tore through Rio de Janeiro state's mountains, killing at least 99 people in 24 hours, Brazilian officials said. Rescuers using heavy machinery, shovels and bare hands dug through tons of mud and debris in a search for survivors.

In Teresopolis, 65 kilometres north of Rio where at least 71 died, flash floods tossed cars into trees and mudslides poured earth over houses below. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

‘Life must triumph in Haiti,’ Michaëlle Jean says

PAUL CHIASSON/THE CANADIAN PRESS

▶ Michaëlle Jean

Michaëlle Jean joined the country of her birth in a day of mourning yesterday as poverty-racked Haiti marked the first anniversary of last year’s devastating earthquake.

During a whirlwind one-day visit to her homeland, Canada’s former governor general participated in a memorial ceremony at Port-au-Prince’s Université Quisqueya, where 23 people lost their lives in the massive Jan. 12 temblor that killed an estimated 230,000 others.

“Everybody, everybody is in mourning right now,” Jean said after arriving at the university.

Thinking back on the disaster and its massive human toll is an important step towards the country’s painstakingly slow rebuilding and recovery effort, she added.

“It’s about remembering all the people who died last year and it’s about also putting all of our belief and hope in life,” said Jean, who as governor general visited the country last year — in particular her childhood home of Jacmel — in the weeks following the quake.

“Life must triumph here in Haiti.”

Lebanon’s government collapses

- Hezbollah and allies walk out of cabinet
- Country’s worst political crisis since 2008
- Ministers timed their withdrawal to coincide with Prime Minister Hariri’s meeting with Barack Obama

Lebanon’s government collapsed yesterday after Hezbollah and its allies resigned from the cabinet in a dispute with Western-backed factions over upcoming indictments in the 2005 assassination of former prime minister Rafik Hariri.

A UN-backed tribunal investigating the truck bombing that killed Hariri and 22 others is widely expected to name members of the Shiite militant group, which many fear could re-ignite sectarian violence that has erupted repeatedly in the tiny nation.

Lebanon’s 14-month-old government was an uneasy coalition linking bitter rivals: A Western-backed bloc led by Hariri’s son Saad and Hezbollah, which is supported by Syria and Iran and maintains an arsenal that far outweighs that of the national army.

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

America reacts

A White House statement said Barack Obama commended Hariri for his “steadfast leadership and efforts to reach peace, stability and consensus in Lebanon under difficult circumstances.”

Could there be something in the water in Idaho?

Tyler Ashton Marx’s lucky number is going to be one, or 11, or maybe both.

The son of Jared and Leslie Marx was born at 11:11 a.m. on Jan. 11, 2011, at St. Luke’s Meridian Medical Center in Meridian, Idaho.

Jared Marx is serving in Iraq and watched his son’s birth over the Internet.

Leslie Marx told KTVB-TV that Tyler was born just as the clock switched to 11:11 a.m.

But Tyler Marx isn’t the only one in the family with a memorable birthday. His older sister was born Sept. 9, 2009 — 9/9/09.

A Minnesota couple’s daughter was born Tuesday with one less one. Amy Zeller and Codjo Mensah welcomed Flora Mensah to the world at 1:11 a.m.

China agrees to seal deal

Canada hopes arrangement will offset expected losses from EU ban

China has agreed to import Canadian seal meat and oil in a deal the federal government hopes will create new markets for the embattled industry.

Fisheries Minister Gail Shea announced the agreement yesterday in a conference call from Beijing, where she is trying to promote Canadian seafood and seal products.

Shea said the deal will take effect today and make Canada the only country allowed to export seal meat and oil to the massive Chinese market.

But animal rights activists say Canadian processors could have a hard time selling the maligned products in China.

Rebecca Aldworth, a spokeswoman for the Humane Society of the United States, said there is rising opposition to the hunt and a reluctance to accept the products as food sources.

"I don't believe there is any future for the Canadian sealing industry in China," she said.

"For Canada, sealing is about more than fur — the trade of other seal products represents a growing share of what is already a multimillion-dollar business."

2010 sets record as wettest and warmest

1.8 Temperatures over land surfaces were the warmest on record last year, averaging 1.80 degrees Fahrenheit (1 Celsius) above normal.

It is a tie: Last year equaled 2005 as the warmest year on record, U.S. government climate experts reported yesterday.

The average worldwide temperature was 1.12 degrees Fahrenheit (0.62 degree Celsius) above normal last year. That's the same as six years ago, the National Climatic Data Center announced.

Climate experts have become increasingly concerned about rising global temperatures over the last century. Most atmospheric scientists attribute the change to gases released into the air by industrial processes and gasoline-burning engines.

In addition, the Global Historical Climatology Network said yesterday that last year was the wettest on record. Rain and snowfall patterns varied greatly around the world.

"The warmth this year reinforces the notion that we are seeing climate change," said David Easterling, chief of scientific services at the climatic data centre.

Magna sees auto sector rebounding

CARLOS OSORIO/TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

▶ Magna CEO Don Walker

Magna International Inc. is confident about a rebound in the global auto sector and now expects total sales for 2011 will come in between $25.6 billion US and $27.1 billion US, the Canadian auto to parts giant announced yesterday.

"As 2011 begins, vehicle production is poised for future growth in a number of important markets for us, including North America," Magna CEO Don Walker said.

Magna's outlook is based on estimates that 12.9 million vehicles will be built in North America this year and 13.3 million units in Western Europe, as well as growth over the next few years in new markets for the company.

It also expects to spend $900 million to $1 billion this year on fixed assets.

Lobby group says tax cuts will create 100,000 jobs

Reductions will save corporations $12.4B in next two years, report says

Canada's manufacturers say scheduled corporate tax cuts this year and next will create close to 100,000 new jobs in Canada, while increasing the government's overall tax take.

The Canadian Manufacturers and Exporters lobby group says Ottawa's controversial cuts, which will take the corporate rate to 15 per cent by next year from 18 per cent, will be good for firms, but also good for Canada.

Provinces are also scheduled to reduce their rate to 10 per cent in 2012, bringing the combined rate to 25 per cent.

Manufacturers argue that the impact on business competitiveness will boost the country's gross domestic product output by almost $52 billion, or 3.2 per cent, resulting in a boost on per capita income of $880. That calculation assumes firms will re-invest about half the value of the tax cuts.

"The question is not if we can afford corporate tax cuts; it's can we afford not to make tax rates in Canada competitive ..."

A SERIOUS CASE OF CAN'T-SIT-STILL-ITIS

He says ...

JOHN MAZEROLLE

It takes me a while to settle into a new city.

A few years will pass as I learn about its people, its feel, its rhythm. And then, suddenly, I'll be hit with the thought that always occurs to me when I realize a place, once strange, is now home: Man, I've got to get out of here.

Itchy feet and cabin fever don't even begin to describe what I feel in my most wanderlustful moments. Something clinical to reflect the seriousness of the condition would be more appropriate: Soulriasis, maybe.

I've been in Toronto for two and a half years and Canada, generally, for five — an unusually long time for me in both cases. Normally, when it comes to cities, I'm just a gigolo. Truth is, I've fooled around with at least one city in every province, not to mention a little something-something on the side in Africa, Europe, and New Zealand. Some towns, I don't even remember their names. "Sorry, Toronto the Good. That's just how I roll."

"I'm frankly baffled by anybody who would prefer to stay where they are."

Why do I need to get away? I barely understand the question. It's like being asked why I need to eat, or drink, or watch Futurama marathons. It's just something that needs to be done. I'm frankly baffled by anybody who would prefer to stay where they are.

My father, for one, frequently acts like there are "BEYOND THIS POINT THERE BE DRAGONS" signs greeting anyone who would dare leave New Brunswick. And he's not alone: I was once on a ferry off the coast of New Brunswick when a stranger next to me remarked how beautiful the view was. "Yes," I agreed. "I've been everywhere," the man continued. "New Brunswick, Nova Scotia. Everywhere. And this is the best spot."

It's not that I judge people like him, so much as I consider them part of a different species. There's a whole planet to see. Why would anyone pass that up? Am I the crazy one? Though it might seem to some like I'm running away from family or responsibilities, the truth is I'm a better person when I travel: I read more; I learn more; I live in the moment.

And I'm way more accepting of things as they are. Missing a city bus when I'm home will make me grumpy. But getting bad service in Vienna? Charming. Nearly freezing overnight in a tent in New Zealand? Awesome. Passing out from food poisoning in Zimbabwe? That's an adventure.

Sorry, Canada. It's better for both of us if I see other cities. It will just be for a few weeks this summer. I'll totally call on your birthday.

Re: J.A. Zwahlen letter (Jan. 12)

RAWDON, N.S. I noted J.A. Zwahlen's objections to a cartoon by Michael de Adder. In his objection, Zwahlen suggested de Adder was confusing the anger of the tea party with hatred. I believe it's Zwahlen who is confused. There is a distinction to be made between dissatisfaction with one's government and advocating violence as part of one's dissatisfaction. Sarah Palin, Rush Limbaugh, Glenn Beck and others have blurred and, some would argue, crossed the line when it comes to offering political comment.

No one is suggesting that the concerns of the tea party aren't legitimate, however, any suggestion by either side of the political spectrum that violence is an acceptable form of voicing one's concerns is repugnant and has no place in a democracy. Tea party supporters seem to not recognize or respect that limit. TIM MCDERMOTT

Metro Minute at Zoinks

Ultimately, what it really comes down to is that we love the name.

Does it get better than Zoinks? They could be selling kitty litter and we'd still shop there.

And, quite honestly, amidst their wide range of used CDs, DVDs, books and vinyl, there has to be at least a dozen items that would be more functionally appropriate than the lining inside Chairman Meow's Port-a-Potty.

But excavating those dollar bin gems is what city living is all about. After all, your cousins in North Bay would never be able to walk into a store, dig up a vintage Pia Zadora album and become a hero at their next house party. JORDANA DIVON

French director Michel Gondry takes on his first big action film • Picking a Chinese actor to play a Chinese role leads to criticism • Not a fan of big sex scenes

▶ Seth Rogan stars in The Green Hornet.

How to direct a superhero

NED EHRBAR
SCENE@METRONEWS.CA
METRO WORLD NEWS IN LOS ANGELES

Eclectic French director Michel Gondry makes his first bid at a big-budget studio tent-pole with The Green Hornet, based on the 1940s radio program and 1960s TV series. Metro caught up with Gondry to discuss his sketching habit, dealing with racial issues and avoiding intimacy on screen.

Do you still create extensive storyboards for your work?
My first movie, Human Nature, I did every single shot in storyboard because the budget was small and I wanted to do everything, like a piece of Lego. Every set was conceived and done on stage. And then I realized it suffocated the actor a little bit. So since then I decided that when it concerns only the actor, I will not storyboard. It will be open to conversation at the last minute. Now when there are 10 cars flipping and exploding, and the building is exploding and falling apart, then you have to do some storyboards.

With the character of Kato, The Green Hornet has had some unpleasant racial connotations associated with it. How did you work to avoid or address those?
To me, that was the main thing. Even in the draft I had 10 years ago or 15 years ago, he was still the servant. It was very condescending to have him as the servant. That was one thing we didn't want to have in this movie. But you know what's really funny, and a thing I don't understand? People criticized us that we took a real Chinese actor — actually he's from Taiwan — to have a bigger market. But it's so funny because the problem of all the American movies I can remember is that they would never take a real Chinese person to do a Chinese character. David Carradine played Kung Fu, which was supposed to be played by Bruce Lee — it was a concept by Bruce Lee. But they didn't want him because he was too Chinese. And here we take a real Chinese actor, and people still complain. There is always room for complaint.

You've mentioned avoiding including much of a love story in this film because you thought it would be too distracting.
Not that I'm somebody pure who never sees sex in movies and everything like that, but a lot of time I feel uncomfortable when people get too intimate on the screen. I remember with Kate Winslet and Jim Carrey we had some pretty hot scenes (in Eternal Sunshine of the Spotless Mind), and once I was in there, I was, "OK, put your hand in his pants and go for it." Then when you man the camera, you go for it. But I generally don't like to watch the scene. And I remember they asked me if Kirsten Dunst could be topless, and I didn't want to ask her. They made me ask her, they forced me to ask her, the producer. And I did it, and she said to me, "No. The only director that I would get my bra off for would be (Pedro) Almodovar, not you." It was really embarrassing because I didn't want her to do it in the first place.

John Travolta says their seven-week-old baby boy is "a new beginning" for his family.

The actor and his wife, Kelly Preston, posed with their son Benjamin for the cover of People magazine. Travolta says Benjamin has "brought us a new beginning" and "given the house a renewed spirit and purpose."

Travolta and Preston's oldest child, son Jett, died in 2008 at the age of 16. Benjamin was born in November in Florida. Preston, 48, and Travolta, 56, also have a 10-year-old daughter, Ella Bleu.

Gervais wants to be Golden

Ricky Gervais says he agreed to do a second turn as host of Sunday's Golden Globe Awards because he wants "to do a proper job this time."

"I don't think I went far enough," continues the comic actor-director-writer-producer. "Obviously not, because they invited me back. So, I'm going to do it again, do a proper job. And I guarantee they will not invite me back."

This year's Globe contenders should provide Team Gervais with a bounty of comic fodder, including best-picture nominations for the much-maligned The Tourist and Burlesque.

"I honestly can't wait to do it," Gervais said. "I'm going to go out there, guns blazing, like it's the end of the world."

After all, the 49-year-old Gervais has little to lose, with what seems like projects at every network and studio in Hollywood. He reunites with frequent collaborator Stephen Merchant and The Ricky Gervais Show co-producer and co-star Karl Pilkington for the travel series An Idiot Abroad, a UK smash that will debut later this month stateside on Science Channel.

With that, prepare for this year's Globes host to serve as a pitchman, too.

"I'm going to mention An Idiot Abroad on Science," Gervais said. "I'm going to mention The Ricky Gervais Show returning on HBO. I'm going to mention I'm in the Muppet movie, Wind in the Willows. Steve (Merchant) has got a fridge-freezer for sale."

Gervais, a 2004 Golden Globe winner for starring in the original British version of The Office, promises he'll never host the Globes again.

Chakin earns ACTRA nomination

The late character actor Maury Chaykin is among the nominees for the ninth annual ACTRA Awards.

▶ Chakin

Chaykin, who starred in the TV comedy series Less Than Kind, is up for outstanding male performance.

Others in the category include Mark McKinney of Death Comes to Town, Noah Reid from the film Score: A Hockey Musical, Nicholas Rose of New Year, and Chuck Shamata of Break a Leg.

Molly Parker and the late Tracy Wright, who both starred in the Bruce McDonald film Trigger, are up for outstanding performance by a female.

Their competition will include Sarah Manninen from the TV movie Keep Your Head Up, Kid: The Don Cherry Story, Zoie Palmer of The Untitled Work of Paul Shepard, and Liisa Repo-Martell, who appeared in Flashpoint, Guest Star, and Unacceptable Risk.

Meanwhile, comedian Sean Cullen is among the nominees for outstanding voice performance for his work on Jimmy Two-Shoes. Also in the running are London Angelis for You Are Here, Cory Doran for Jimmy Two-Shoes, Billy MacLellan for Afghanada and Maurice Dean Wint for Beasts of the Bible.

King of Kensington actress Fiona Reid will receive ACTRA's 2011 award of excellence.

ACTRA represents over 15,000 of Canada's 21,000 professional performers working in English.

The awards will be handed out Feb. 25.

Idol ready for first season without Simon

- New judges say they'll be encouraging, but honest
- Singers allowed to perform their own material

Now that Simon Cowell is gone, nobody is ready to claim the villain's role on American Idol.

New judges Jennifer Lopez and Steven Tyler told reporters yesterday that they're looking forward to using their experience to help guide new artists. The series is set to begin its 10th season on Jan. 19, with only Randy Jackson left from the original cast of judges.

The judges have been candid as they've filmed early rounds of the contest, Lopez said.

"We're both very spontaneous with how we critique each and every person who walks in. ... We're very honest and in the moment," said the singer-actress.

Idol will be cutting the semifinalist field to 20, which gives the voting audience fewer singers to choose as finalists.

But they also call on their professional insights to help the contestants, she said.

"There's nothing like having that kind of discussion with another artist to help you grow," Lopez said.

Executive producer Nigel Lythgoe said the new season of American Idol will be more about searching for an eventual winner of the show, "rather than stopping people getting there."

Producers and host Ryan Seacrest promised a more fun ride. "There's a genuine camaraderie with this group," Seacrest said.

How many layers deep is Lindsay?

Lohan making friends with Inception star who has been sober for years

GETTY IMAGES FILE

Fresh out of rehab, Lindsay Lohan has reportedly been hanging around with Inception star Tom Hardy, according to X17 Online, though reps have denied that the sober actor is serving as Lohan's sponsor.

"Lindsay loves how Tom has been sober for years, and she wants to make sure she follows in that path. He's a good looking guy with a great career who has overcome some major obstacles," a source says.

"They're perfect together. Lindsay hopes it will turn into a serious relationship. She's really into him."

A hitch in that plan might be the fact that Hardy is engaged to British actress Charlotte Riley.

Hardy will ride his Inception star into the next installment of the Dark Knight series — the Dark Knight Rises.

Lily Allen married?

PEOPLE Though they've only been engaged a few weeks, Lily Allen and Sam Cooper may have already secretly tied the knot. Allen posted a photo of her hand to Twitter, and next to her engagement ring was what looked like a wedding band.

Jewel admits to pregnancy

PEOPLE Jewel and husband Ty Murray are expecting, the singer tells People magazine.

"I took a pregnancy test and it was positive," says Jewel, who admits that working on her new Bravo reality show made it tough to stay quiet about the big news. "It was so hard to keep it a secret. I was worried I'd start throwing up on set and everyone would be like, 'Oh, she's pregnant.'"

Kidman used Botox

Nicole Kidman has reportedly admitted to a German magazine that she has tried Botox, according to the Daily Mail.

"I've tried a lot of things, but apart from working out and a good diet, most things don't help," Kidman said when asked about techniques to combat aging.

"I even tried Botox, but I didn't like how my face looked afterward. Now I don't use it anymore — and I can move my forehead again."

Fashion rules to break in 2011

This year's coming trends may force you to disregard about 90 per cent of everything you were ever taught about clothes.

KENYA HUNT, GLOBAL FASHION DIRECTOR

▶ Prada

Jil Sander

1 Never wear horizontal stripes

Fashion puritans of yore dictated that stripes would only make you look about 10 pounds heavier. Then fashion's craze for Breton tops happened and it paved the way for a full-blown explosion of stripes that started on the spring/summer '11 runways and is coming to a store near you. Stripes are now perfectly fashionable on work suits (Prada) or slouchy tank-dresses (Jil Sander).

▶ Alexander Wang

Celine

2 Never wear white in winter

Ignore the stiff sartorial moralist tsk-tsking in your ear as you reach for that white dress in your closet. This month, we strongly encourage you to wear ivory. The non-colour will be bigger than big this year; nearly every brand showed a series of covetable white looks for spring/summer '11. But it's not limited to hot summer days. Alexander Wang and Celine are just a few brands that churned out ivory coats, trousers and sweaters that would look perfectly cool now.

▶ Chloé

Givenchy

3 Always wear a slip

Back in 1980, a young soon-to-be Princess Diana caused an uproar when paparazzi snapped her in the park. The sunlight revealed that she was wearing no slip to hide her legs beneath a sheer skirt. Today she'd be applauded for it. The floaty, see-through skirts and dresses headed our way this year are meant to show a little leg. Not that you need to show your panties to all the world – try silk shorts instead.

3 life

Toasty texting

Last February, Annie Hemmesch, her mother and sister started selling Telefingers gloves made by threading the thumbs, pointer fingers and middle fingers with conductive material that allows wearers to use touchscreen devices while keeping their hands warm. The gloves are just one example of the influence the cold weather is having on fashion and technology.

This suite resembles a resort-like environment, while appealing to both sexes

Beige without boredom

SUITE TALK

RAFAEL BRUSILOW
HOME@METRONEWS.CA

While making beige exciting again, the model suite at Ocean Club feels both livable and stylish.

Tania Richardson, designer and principal partner at Tomas Pearce Interior Design Consulting Inc., created a bold, fresh design meant to elicit memories of resort living.

"I thought, How can I do beige without being boring? I ran with mocha, ivory and blush colours from the world of fashion. What we wanted to do was create a warm, resort-like environment that would appeal to both men and women," Richardson said.

The bright, airy kitchen plays with contrasts and features white cabinetry juxtaposed against dark browns and blacks yet framed with chrome elements as well.

Richardson's goal was to build a kitchen that felt vibrant and invigorating.

"We didn't want the kitchen to be traditional. We wanted it to be clean and light and fresh. We were tired of seeing dark kitchens," Richardson said.

A gorgeous teak hardwood floor throughout the suite provides an element of sophistication without feeling pretentious, and Richardson opted for an accessory-rich approach, which ensures the suite feels both lived-in and liveable. A wealth of textures abounds from glass and crystal accent accessories to leather in the full-sized sofa, rustic reclaimed wood in the TV cabinet and silk drapes in the living area.

"It's all very tactile. There's a lot of different textures and a real mish-mash of materials. We just tried to capture an essence of all the senses," Richardson said.

The bedrooms feature male-female contrasting themes with the master bedroom designed to be more feminine, playing off of blush and ivory colours while the guest bedroom focuses more on grey and dark brown tones for a more masculine look.

Condo tricks of the trade: Jackie Di Cara

DECOR MOMENT

KARL LOHNES
HOME@
METRONEWS.CA

A standard apartment-style condo is given the designer touch.

There are many things to consider when purchasing an older condo and one of the largest is how to make it your own by putting a personal decor stamp of style on it.

When the homeowner of this downtown condo purchased the dated space, it seemed the outdated and unchangeable finishes, like stuccoed ceilings, horizontal windows and parquet flooring, could never become the urban and stylish home she had envisioned. Enter Toronto interior designer Jackie Di Cara. Her client was actually using a search engine on the Internet and found Jackie listed.

She knew as soon as she saw Jackie's work that she had found all the help she needed to transform her outdated downtown condo into a cool, urban space.

Jackie's practical and efficient furniture layout and thoughtful decorating ideas and tricks helped to make a dated space look like a super-stylish home.

Jackie started by accessing the items that the client had already purchased for her new home — a new sofa, large ottoman, two new chairs and the small upright piano (a must-have in the new space).

Jackie then got to work to create a home that fit all the client's current items, and made them feel like they had been part of the overall scheme from the beginning.

Living area

Low built-ins were installed under the horizontal window ledge to create much needed storage and to serve as a display shelf for artwork and decorative items.

"The view was completely undesirable, so I used the old trick of bringing the focal point forward so that the eye stops at an interesting painting or items rather than looking outside."

Simple window treatments offer privacy and diffuse the view while still allowing light to flow into the living area.

Not hanging drapery panels helped to keep a clean, modern feeling to the room.

Textured seagrass wallpaper creates an unexpected focal wall that grounds the heaviest piece of furniture and also the piano. The texture of the grasscloth draws attention away from the texture of the stippled ceiling.

Jackie floated an open-backed chaise lounge in the open-concept space. It allows guests to sit facing the living area or kitchen. Another sofa could have been added, but its high back would have blocked the visual flow into the living area and made the space feel smaller.

A generous area rug ties all the furniture together in the living area, leaving the rest of the floor areas bare to show off the newly re-stained parquet flooring.

A dark walnut stain colour gave the room a sophisticated feel and the much need change from the original golden oak colour.

Colours

Jackie kept the colour scheme very classic and restrained. Grey, cream browns with a hint of fashionable yellow and raspberry to make the room feel trendsetting.

The artwork is fabric that Jackie found while shopping for pillow fabrics. She framed the fabric and used it as art.

The ottoman was a matching piece to the sofa but overwhelmed the room with too much grey, so Jackie reupholstered it and placed a large tray on top. Now it serves as a place to perch during parties, a comfy footstool or even as a coffee table.

La Mexicana misses the mark

Enjoy the complimentary tortilla chips, but don't expect much from the rest of the lacklustre options

STEPHANIE DICKISON

The Combo Platter at La Mexicana falls short.

LUNCH RUSH

STEPHANIE DICKISON
FOOD@METRONEWS.CA

Craving Mexican? La Mexicana is right downtown at Yonge and Bloor.

Make sure you enjoy the complimentary tortilla chips with red and green salsas while you peruse the menu.

If you've never had cactus, you'll get your fill with Ensalada de Nopal ($10).

Long strips of cooked prickly pear cactus (think an olive-y pickle or green bean) are heaped atop romaine with slices of creamy avocado, tomatoes, cheese, pico de gallo, and dressed with olive oil and oregano. It's big for sure, but aside from the cactus, not very exciting.

The Combo Platter ($15) includes a chicken enchilada, beef burrito and cheese quesadilla, salad, guacamole and sour cream and your choice of beans or rice. While the chile sauce at least lifts the shredded chicken, the shredded beef is pretty dreary with just guacamole to rely on. Smooth, smoky black beans in a tortilla cup add depth to a fine, but ultimately lacklustre plate.

Cashew Chicken

LARRY CROWE/ THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ingredients:

- 30 ml (2 tbsp) oyster sauce
- 30 ml (2 tbsp) soy sauce
- 5 ml (1 tsp) sugar
- 2 ml (1/2 tsp) ground white pepper
- 30 ml (2 tbsp) rice wine
- 10 ml (2 tsp) sesame oil
- 30 ml (2 tbsp) vegetable oil
- 450 g (1 lb) boneless, skinless chicken breasts, cubed
- 2 green bell peppers, cored and cut into chunks
- 1 small yellow onion, diced
- 10 ml (2 tsp) grated fresh ginger
- 250 ml (1 cup) unsalted cashews

Preparation:

1. In a bowl, whisk together oyster sauce, soy sauce, sugar, white pepper, rice wine and sesame oil. Set aside.
2. In a large, deep skillet or wok over medium-high, heat the vegetable oil until shimmering. Add the chicken and stir-fry until lightly browned, 2 to 3 minutes. It should not be completely cooked through yet.
3. Add the green peppers, onion and fresh ginger. Stir-fry until the chicken is cooked through and the onions are translucent, about another 5 to 6 minutes.
4. Stir in the sauce and the cashew nuts, thoroughly coating all ingredients.

Raps fall short against Hawks

Barbosa, Bargnani lead Toronto with 26 points each

HAWKS	RAPTORS
104	101

Mike Bibby made a go-ahead three-pointer with 8.2 seconds left, Jamal Crawford scored a season-high 36 points, and the Atlanta Hawks beat the Toronto Raptors 104-101 last night for their fifth straight victory.

Joe Johnson scored 26 points and Al Horford had 10 points and 13 rebounds for the Hawks, who have won nine of their past 11 meetings with the Raptors.

Leandro Barbosa scored a season-high 26 points for the Raptors, who also got 26 from Andrea Bargnani. Toronto has lost five of seven and 14 of 19.

Jose Calderon had 11 points and nine assists for Toronto, but lost the ball out of bounds in the final 10 seconds and his team down by a point.

Toronto led 87-82 with 7:02 to go thanks to Barbosa's three-point play and a free throw by Calderon after a technical foul on Crawford. Atlanta fought back to tie it at 91 on a three-pointer by Johnson with 4:38 remaining.

Bargnani made a pair of jumpers but Crawford's three and a layup from Horford gave Atlanta its first lead of the fourth quarter, 96-95, with 1:20 to go.

Bargnani answered with a three-pointer for Toronto, but DeMar DeRozan fouled Crawford on a three-pointer and the Hawks guard made all three at the line to put Atlanta back on top. At the other end, Toronto's Amir Johnson converted a three-point play after being fouled on a layup, and the Raptors led 101-99 with 45 seconds left.

Crawford missed a corner three but Amir Johnson was whistled for an offensive foul, giving Atlanta the ball with 10.5 seconds remaining. Bibby took the inbounds pass from Crawford and drilled a three from the top with 8.2 seconds to go, putting the Hawks up 102-101.

Toronto gave the ball to Calderon, who lost the ball out of bounds as he drove to the basket. The referees huddled to review the play on video before giving possession to the Hawks. Johnson made a pair of free throws to make it 104-101 with a second to play. Bargnani's long three bounced off the rim at the buzzer, and the Italian sunk to his knees in frustration. LeBron's remark has Cavs atwitter

LeBron James has tweaked Dan Gilbert — and the Cavaliers owner's miserable NBA team — with a pointed tweet.

As his former teammates were absorbing a 55-point loss to the Los Angeles Lakers on Tuesday night, James fired off a message on his Twitter account that seemed to be directed at Gilbert.

James wrote: "Crazy. Karma is a b*... Gets you every time. Its not good to wish bad on anybody. God sees everything!"

11 The 112-57 loss to the Lakers was the Cavs' 11th straight and their most lopsided since joining the league in 1970.

In July, after James announced he was leaving for Miami, Gilbert wrote a scathing letter to Cleveland fans questioning the two-time MVP's character and predicted he would take Cleveland's curse with him "down south ... James will unfortunately own this dreaded spell and bad karma."

His tweet was poorly received in Cleveland, where fans still feel betrayed by him spurning them. It's bad enough the Cavs are struggling, but James decided to kick them when they're down. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

After being overshadowed by the likes of Justin Pogge, J.S. Aubin and Andrew Raycroft, James Reimer is making the most of his opportunity

James Reimer, an always smiling, always affable kid from Winnipeg, watched as 11 other goalies all got their chance between the pipes since he was drafted in 2006 before he got the call.

And so it is again that Reimer will be in net tonight against Phoenix — not demoted to the Toronto Marlies as the plan called — as the Leafs head for a season-best fifth win in a row with their hot rookie.

“It’s been a wild ride, it’s been crazy, it’s been a lot of fun,” said Reimer. “It seems like every day it’s been an adventure, not knowing what’s happening. It just keeps going. It’s fun. I’m enjoying it.”

J.S. Giguere was expected to be cleared by doctors prior to tonight’s game, but he understands the need for the team to ride the hot hand.

1.92
Reimer’s goals against average, which would be second in the league behind Boston’s Tim Thomas (1.77) if he had enough minutes.

“When the guy’s playing well, you’ve got to keep going with him,” said Giguere. “Only one goalie can play at a time.”

It’s unclear whether Giguere or Jonas Gustavsson would be the backup. Forward Mike Brown is ready to play as well. With the two coming off the injured list, the Leafs are at the maximum 23 player roster limit. They can carry three goalies, at least until John Mitchell comes off injured reserve.

Today's horoscope

For today's crossword answers and for expanded horoscopes, go to metronews.ca

♈ Aries March 21-April 20 Lead by example today. Simply issuing orders and expecting others to carry them out is not going to succeed, especially at work where you are more likely to spark a rebellion.

♉ Taurus April 21-May 21 It's official: you were right and everyone else was wrong. Will you gloat? Of course you will, and rightly so, but having enjoyed your moment of triumph don't go on and on about it.

♊ Gemini May 22-June 21 As Mercury, your ruler, moves into the wealth area of your chart today something will happen that reminds you that you must conserve your resources. Look ahead.

♋ Cancer June 22-July 22 Be bold, be brave and be ready to take advantage of the opportunities that are coming your way. Mercury, planet of communication, will bring good news of some kind today

♌ Leo July 23-Aug.23 Some people can be awfully touchy and today, especially, a friend or loved one is likely to jump down your throat if you make even the slightest criticism of their behavior.

♍ Virgo Aug. 24- Sept. 22 The planets are urging you to be a bit less suspicious than you usually are. Rest assured you won't lose out by going along with what a friend or work colleague proposes – you may even make some money.

♎ Libra Sept. 23-Oct. 23 Sit back and let the good things in life come to you. One of those good things has something to do with your family and today, more than most days, you will find it easy to connect with loved ones.

♏ Scorpio Oct. 24-Nov. 22 You will be feeling more like your old self today. Mercury's change of signs will give you the confidence to try out new things and visit new places, especially in the company of friends.

♐ Sagittarius Nov. 23-Dec. 21 Don't suffer in silence. Speak up and let everyone know you deserve a bigger share of the applause and rewards. Chances are you'll get it.

♒ Aquarius Jan. 21-Feb. 18 There are so many good things going on in your world, so why are you so reluctant o make something of them? Between now and the Sun's move into your sign on the 20th you must get your act together

♓ Pisces Feb. 19-March 20 An offer of some sort will come your way and to say the least it will sound tempting.
